

A Captain In the Ranks

CHAPTER V.

It was a little after sunset on May 30, 1865, when young Duncan went ashore from the towboat at Cairo. The town was ablaze with fireworks, for a local celebration of the close of the war was in progress as he made his way up the slope of the levee through a narrow passageway that ran between two mountainous piles of cotton bales. At other points there were equally great piles of corn and oats in sacks, pork in barrels, hams and bacon in boxes and finer goods of every kind in bales and packing cases, for Cairo was just at that time the busiest entrepot in all the Mississippi valley.

The town was small, but its business was larger than that of many great cities. The little city lay at the point where the Ohio river runs into the Mississippi, from the Ohio, from the Tennessee and the Cumberland and even from far up the Missouri great fleets of steamboats were landing at Cairo every day to load and unload cargoes representing a wealth as great as that of the Indies. A double headed railroad from the north carrying the produce of half a dozen states and connecting by other roads with all the great cities of the land made its terminus at Cairo. Two railroads from the south—traversing five states—ended their lines at Columbus, a little farther down the river, and were connected with the northern lines by steamboats from Cairo.

Cairo was the meeting place of commerce between the north and the south. Out of the upper rivers came light draft steamers. Plying the river below were steamers of far different construction by reason of the easier conditions of navigation. At Cairo every steamboat, whether from north or south, unloaded its freight for reshipment up or down the river, as the case might be, upon steamboats of a different type or by rail. And all the freight brought north or south by rail must also be transferred at Cairo, either to river steamers or to railroad cars.

The south was still thronged with northern troops, numbering hundreds of thousands, who must be fed and clothed and otherwise supplied, and so the government's own traffic through the town was in itself a trade of vast proportions. But that was the smallest part of the matter. Now that the war was at an end the south was setting to work to rebuild itself. From the Cumberland and the Tennessee rivers, from the lower Mississippi, from the Arkansas, the Yazoo, the Red river, the White, the St. Francis and all the rest of the waterways of the south energetic men of broken fortune were hurrying to market all the cotton that they had managed to grow and to save during the war, in order that they might get money with which to buy the supplies needed for the cultivation of new crops.

Pretty nearly all this cotton came to Cairo, either for sale to eager buyers there or for shipment to the east and a market.

In return the planters and the southern merchants through whom they did business were clamorous for such goods as they needed. Grain, bay, pork, bacon, agricultural implements, seed potatoes, lime, plaster, lumber and everything else necessary to the rebuilding of southern homes and industries was pouring into Cairo and

Do You Think For Yourself?

Or, do you open your mouth like a young bird and rattle down whatever food or medicine may be offered you?

There is an intelligent thinking woman. In need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to her that there is one tried and true honest medicine of known composition, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills.

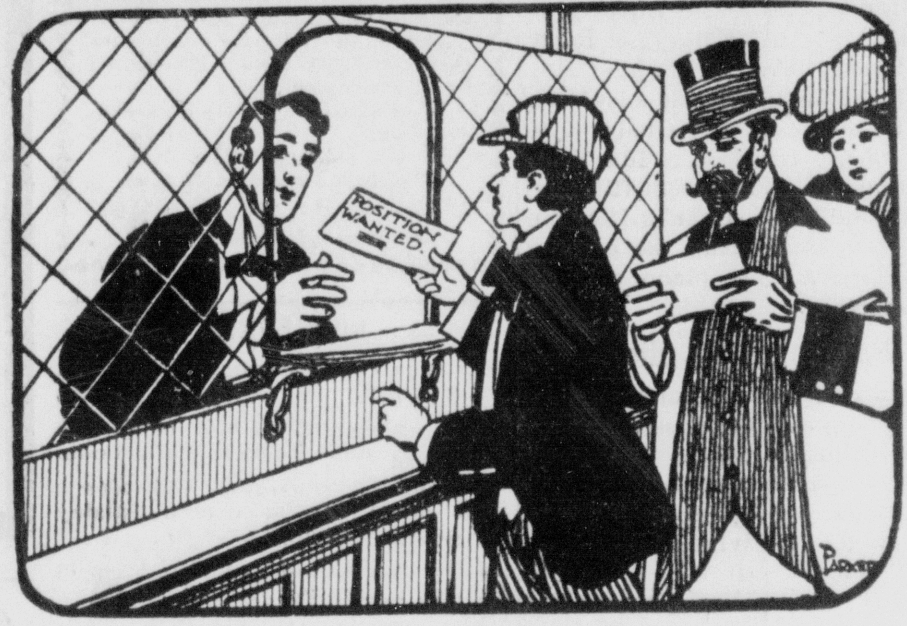

The makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of practice, are perfectly willing, and in fact, are only too glad to print, as they do, the formula, or list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper.

The formula of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will bear the most critical examination of medical experts, for it contains no alcohol, narcotics, harmful, or habit-forming drugs, and no agent enters into it that is not highly recommended by the most advanced and leading medical teachers and authorities of their several schools of practice. These authorities recommend the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of exactly the same ailments for which this world-famed medicine is advised.

No other medicine for woman's ills has any such professional endorsement as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has received, in the unqualified recommendation of each of its several ingredients by scores of leading medical men of all the schools of practice. Is such an endorsement not worthy of your consideration?

A booklet of ingredients, with numerous authoritative professional endorsements by the leading medical authorities of this country, will be mailed free to any one sending name and address with request for same. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ASSASSIN'S BULLET

Claims Macedonian Premier as He Was Walking in Garden.

Sofia, March 12.—M. Petroff, the premier and minister of the interior, was assassinated here. M. Petroff, with other ministers, was walking in the Boris garden when he was attacked.

GENERAL PETROFF, MACEDONIAN PREMIER, killed by an unknown man, who fired at him with a revolver. The premier was wounded by three bullets and died instantly. M. Geumadieff, the minister of commerce and agriculture, who was one of the ministers accompanying M. Petroff, was wounded in the arm.

The assassin of the premier has been arrested. He is a dismissed employee of the Agricultural bank. The motives for his crime are not known, but in some quarters he is believed to be the executant of a political plot, while other people believe that he acted out of personal revenge. It is thought that Petroff's death may lead to political complications.

ROOSEVELT TO GILLETTE

President Intervenes in California's Anti-Jap Program.

Sacramento, Cal., March 12.—President Roosevelt has again appealed to the legislature of California to stop all Japanese legislation. The president has sent a telegram to Governor Gillette urging that the legislature suspend all Japanese legislation and expressing the fear that the action of the senate Saturday in passing the two Japanese bills and a resolution may render ineffective his efforts to secure exclusion of Japanese laborers by friendly agreement with Japan.

The governor transmitted the president's telegram to the assembly, where action was to have been taken on the two bills and the resolution adopted by the senate, with a message recommending and urging that the president's request be acceded to. On motion in both houses the assembly by a viva voce vote decided to take no action on the bills on file at this session.

SLAYS THREE IN A FIGHT

Kentuckian Himself Seriously Wounded in Battle on a Boat.

Sergeant, Ky., March 12.—Thacker Rice and Speed and Elijah Bailey, brothers, were killed in a desperate fight in a boat when crossing the Middle Fork of the Kentucky river, twenty miles below here. With them was John Ellismore.

A dispute had arisen between Ellismore and Rice, whereupon the Bailey brothers took sides with Rice. Ellismore, without warning, whacked Rice on the head with an oar, and then a battle with pistols and knives followed. Ellismore, himself badly wounded, finally reached shore with his companions, but they died soon after. The fight followed a celebration at a neighbor's home.

Knoxville Goes "Dry."

Knoxville, Tenn., March 12.—Knoxville, by a majority of nearly 2,000 votes, decided Monday that the saloons must go. Under a state law granting incorporated cities the right to say whether or not they desire saloons, an election was held as an expression of sentiment. The result was a majority of 1,921 for temperance. Six months' time will be allowed the saloons to close.

PROGRESS OF WAR

BONNILLA IN THE SADDLE

President of Honduras Personally Heads His Troops and Reports a Succession of Victories.

Dispatches Received at New Orleans Give the Details From Honduran Point of View.

New Orleans, March 12.—A steamer arriving today brings the following telegrams from Puerto Cortez, Honduras, describing the recent battles between Honduras and Nicaragua:

San Pedro de Sul.—An exploring party of Honduran troops attacked the enemy in considerable numbers at Namasique, capturing three advanced positions, dislodging them from the town and driving them from the vicinity. The losses of the Nicaraguan forces were numerous. The Honduran attacking column was small, advancing under command of Colonel Leecano Lardizabel in the face of an artillery fire.

Rifles, ammunition and stores were captured in considerable quantities. So completely did the Nicaraguans disband in their flight that although numbering several hundred, they were powerless to return even within close proximity to Namasique. The fighting lasted four to five hours without material loss to the Honduraneans. The Nicaraguan forces, attempting reprisal for the capture of Namasique, attacked Honduran cavalry in Yusguare, but were repulsed.

The following details of the battle of Old Depilito have been received:

General Emiliano Cromorro attacked Old Depilito, where the Nicaraguans had 400 men, and completely defeated them, taking fifty prisoners and capturing cannon, rifles and ammunition and eighty mules. No loss of life was mentioned in this dispatch, but that there were fatalities is evident from a telegram saying that Honduranean losses were comparatively insignificant.

Other dispatches include an order of President Bonilla appointing Saturnino Medal to be the inspector general of the army of the republic, who will act in my behalf and shall be obeyed by all authorities.

General Ordenez has been sent to Truxculo to direct the operation of the war on the northern coast of Honduras.

The taking of the field by Manuel Bonilla in person at the head of the troops occasioned the following telegram from Tegucigalpa: "The presence of the president at the head of the army has completely changed the situation. Enthusiasm has grown to such an extent that many persons of all classes have followed the chief to share in the danger at his side. The military operations have become active."

From the Other Side.

Panama, March 12.—Fernando Sanchez, who was formerly Nicaraguan minister of foreign affairs, who has arrived here, said: "Nicaragua was compelled to fight by President Bonilla of Honduras. Our army is commanded by President Zelaya personally. One of the strongest strategic positions in Honduras was captured some time ago, and I expect that Choluteca will follow. President Zelaya's plans have been carried out successfully up to the present time. I have just received a cablegram from him informing me that General Bonilla was wounded at the battle of Namasique."

WILD ACCLAIM

Greeted Announcement of Strike Settlement at Portsmouth.

Portsmouth, Ohio, March 12.—The streetcar strike, inaugurated two weeks ago, was settled last evening and all employees returned to their places this morning. The agreement provides that the company re-employ all of the men and if an adjustment of the grievances is not reached within thirty days, the matter is to be submitted to a board of arbitration composed of three disinterested citizens, one to be chosen by the company, one by the employees and the third by the two first named.

Secretary Joseph Bishop of the state board of arbitration was largely instrumental in bringing the two sides together. The announcement that the strike had been settled was received with wild acclaim throughout the city and suburbs.

No Clue to Missing Boy.

New York, March 12.—Myles Standish, brother-in-law of Dr. Horace N. Marvin, has come to New York from Dover, Del., to personally superintend the search here for Dr. Marvin's four-year-old son, Horace, Jr., who was kidnapped on Tuesday from his father's home eight miles from Dover. Mr. Standish acknowledged that the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the boy was as deep as it was a week ago, when the child was whisked out of sight within a space of less than five minutes.

JURY HEARS IT ALL

Though Mr. Jerome's Witnesses Were Barred Their Stories Were Aired in Court.

A BRISK LEGAL BATTLE

Mr. Delmas Blocks the State's Attorney in Latter's Effort to Impeach Evelyn Thaw's Testimony.

Notwithstanding This Jerome Cunnings Succeeds in Getting His Story Before the Jury.

New York, March 12.—On the first day of the state's case in rebuttal at the trial of Harry K. Thaw, District Attorney Jerome came to a temporary standstill against the practically solid wall the rules of evidence have built around the story of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. Mr. Jerome began to attack this story as soon as court opened. There ensued a well-nigh ceaseless battle between the prosecutor and Delphin M. Delmas, the leading counsel for the defense, at the end of which Justice Fitzgerald upheld the rule laid down at the beginning of the trial—that young Mrs. Thaw's story was admissible only as tending to show the effect it might have had in unbalancing the defendant's mind and that its truth or falsity is not material.

Mr. Jerome tried to avoid this rule by declaring he was endeavoring to merely show by inference—by circumstantial evidence as to facts and details in the story—that Mrs. Thaw could not possibly have told the story to her husband. Although he will doubtless be blocked by the same rule when the time comes, it is said the district attorney may attempt in the same way to prove an alibi for Stanford White on the night he is alleged to have maltreated young Miss Nesbit.

Nine-tenths of Monday's session was spent in argument, and in nearly every instance when the smoke of conflict cleared away Mr. Delmas had won his point as to the law, while Mr. Jerome in the very argument itself had got before the jury a perfect knowledge as to what his witness would have testified to had they been permitted. The district attorney called ten witnesses during the day, but aside from drawing from the state's eye-witnesses to the tragedy the opinion that Thaw seemed rational the night he shot and killed Stanford White, little headway was made.

WOMAN PEACEMAKER

President Castro's Wife Restores Harmony in Venezuela.

Caracas, Venezuela, March 12.—Senora Castro, wife of the president, whose energy and honesty have won for her the confidence of the Venezuelans, is credited with having taken the initiative in a highly important political move looking to peace in Venezuela. Senora Castro, after months of argument, persuaded her husband that certain ministers had deliberately taken advantage of his condition to poison his mind against his true friend, Gomez. As a result of her efforts negotiations between the president and vice president were opened, and recently Gomez went to Macuto, where the president is convalescing, and conferred there with Castro, with the result, it is said, that an amicable understanding was reached.

Goldfield Is Agitated.

Tonahap, Nev., March 12.—The miners here have decided to sever their connection with the Industrial Workers of the World and form a union of their own. At Goldfield great excitement has been caused by the labor troubles. Nearly half the population is patrolling the streets. John Silva was killed last night and Joe Smith, of the Industrial Workers, is under arrest. A big parade was made this morning as a demonstration against the Industrial Workers.

Crime of Peculiar Horror.

Presden, March 12.—A crime of particular horror has occurred here. Hermann Wildorf, a retired forester, shot and killed five of his six children and wounded the sixth. He then killed his wife, after which he committed suicide. The police found indications that the elder members of the family had agreed to end the lives of all, owing to a scarcity of food.

22 S. Chestnut St.

THE man who has not prepared in advance for a rainy day is not at all pleased with a day like this.

BY AN act of the General Assembly Lincoln's birthday, February 12, is now a legal holiday in Indiana.

THE democrats of the House stood solidly with Governor Hanly and against the enactment of any law for the regulation of insurance companies in Indiana.

THE people of this city are taking more than the usual amount of interest in the light question. The fact that the gas and electric light plants are advertised to be sold at Sheriff's sale March 23 to satisfy a judgment recently taken, and the further fact that the time for a readjustment of rates charged in this city is near at hand are causing the people to discuss the situation and speculate as to the result. This subject was discussed at length by the Merchants' Association Monday night. There is ground for much discussion on the part of the people for they are interested. Who will be the owner of the light plant here after March 23 none of us can tell, but what all of us want is better gas and better electric lights and at more reasonable rates. This light question is one of large responsibility for the mayor and council and they should be free to advise with the people when they take up this matter of readjustment.

Vice President Fairbanks by invitation addressed the General Assembly Monday afternoon. He was given an enthusiastic reception and made a happy speech to the legislators.

THE legislature adjourned for the session Monday evening and the members have gone back to their homes to render an account of their stewardship. This legislature has enacted some valuable laws but failed to enact into law some good measures presented. On the whole the record of good work done will measure up well with former legislatures. The unfortunate and uncalled for antagonism between the General Assembly and the Governor stood in the way of the enactment of some good laws.

IN spite of the breakdown over insurance legislation—which is greatly to be deplored—the record of the Legislature is, on the whole, surprising. It has passed a 2-cent fare law, an anti-trust law, a primary law, a law strengthening the Railroad Commission, a private banking law, a public depository law, a railroad law for the protection of the shippers, a pure food law, a law reorganizing the institutional boards and several other excellent measures. All this is in the line of redeeming the pledges made to the people.—Indianapolis News.

Mr. White is still doing his own work without the expense of hiring an assistant but if you've got any mud on your shoes you needn't come around. It is said that the watch houses at the other Pennsylvania crossings in this city are also being given a coat or two of paint. Mr. White's shanty had been painted only eight months ago.

CITY ENGINEER

George Slagle After Years of Faithful Service Resigns.

The city council met in special session Monday night at the call of Mayor Kyte, but as the newspapers were not apprised of the special meeting, the press was not represented.

The purpose of the meeting was to receive the voluntary resignation of George Slagle, who has served the city faithfully many years as civil engineer, and elect his successor.

In his resignation Mr. Slagle stated that he tendered his resignation on account of poor health and asked that the same be accepted to take effect March 15.

After the resignation was accepted by the council an ordinance was introduced and adopted by the unanimous vote of the council under suspension of the rules fixing the salary of the city civil engineer at $1200 per year.

J. F. McCurdy was elected city civil engineer to succeed Mr. Slagle for an indefinite time by the unanimous vote of the council. He is employed with the full understanding that he is not only to do the usual work of civil engineer but is to make a complete survey of the city and bring about more uniformity of grades to be established in the future. He is also to make a map of the public sewers and make future sewers conform to a common system. This will require much work and several months to complete and it is work that should be done, in fact it is work the council should have had done twenty years ago. Mr. McCurdy is one of the surveyors who have been employed on the Louisville & Indianapolis Traction line with headquarters in Seymour for several months. He is an experienced man.

The many friends of Mr. George Slagle very much regret that the condition of his health is such that he found it necessary to give up this work which he has done for so many years. He is one of Seymour's substantial and useful citizens and his friends and neighbors trust that he will soon be restored to health.

He is one of the leading School men in Indiana.

Hands Are Plentiful.

About eighteen teams and some twenty-five men were employed on Tipton street Monday removing the dirt for the brick street improvement. About eighteen inches of dirt are to be removed at some places. There seems to be quite a lot of men wanting work just now and this street work will accommodate a large number of them till the grading begins again on the interurban. Many of these are the same men who were employed on the interurban line along last fall, and in the early part of the winter. Mr. Shields hopes to have the brick streets completed by the end of next month and will probably succeed in doing so if the weather is favorable. If there is much rough weather, as there is apt to be at this season of the year, the work is likely to be delayed some.

Getting Busy.

The paper hangers and decorators inform us that they are already busy with their spring work and that they have orders ahead for large numbers of residences that are to be repapered early, even before the spring has fairly opened. The tanners, carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers and all who are engaged in building pursuit are looking for the best business in their line that Seymour has experienced for several years. It is important that building work be pushed at once for the scarcity of houses is keeping people away from the city and causing them to settle in Columbus and other nearby towns where houses are of tainable. With the buildings that are being planned it is safe to say that more than fifty residences will be built this season.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney Co., Toledo Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Why We Deserve Your Confidence

The Rexall formulas have never been secret. We have always known them ourselves and have given them to thousands of customers. Right here is where Rexall Remedies have always done more to protect you than is even now required by the Pure Food and Drug Law.

You only know the dangerous drugs in other remedies—the rest of their formulas are still secret. You have always known everything in every Rexall Remedy.

No Rexall Remedy is a "cure-all"—there are 300 different remedies—one for each human ill—the most reliable and successful remedy for that ill proven by years of experience. We have sold these Rexall Remedies upon the squarest plan on which merchandise was ever sold. We have guaranteed to return the money to every purchaser who came back with the empty bottle or package and said that he or she was not satisfied—and we've never failed to live up to this guarantee.

The Pure Food Law did not necessitate any change in Rexall Remedies—on the contrary it has set the stamp of approval upon them. Best of all, you can actually prove that Rexall Remedies are unchanged. You know their formulas four years ago, and you'll find them the same today!

Don't the Rexall Remedies deserve your confidence? Wouldn't you more readily trust a man whom you had proved to be naturally honest, than one who was honest because he had to be? You know that Rexall Remedies have been voluntarily manufactured and sold for four years in the very way that the law now declares to be the only right way.

FOR NERVES—AMERICANITIS ELIXIR

Rexall Americanitis Elixir is one of the 300 Rexall Remedies. It is a tonic nerve food composed chiefly of free Phosphorus, Glycophosphates, Iron Pyrophosphates and Calceva.

The wonderful results of this remedy are due to the fact that it supplies Phosphorus to the nerve cells in a condition in which it can be immediately and easily taken up by them.

The Glycophosphates, actual nerve-tissue builders, are one of the most recent and valuable additions to this branch of medicine and unquestionably a more efficient remedy than the well-known Hypophosphites.

The Iron Pyrophosphates are the more easily assimilated form of iron which give tone and color, and the combined alkaloids of Calceva Bark have a tonic effect on almost all the functions of the body. 75c. and $1.50 a bottle.

WITH A FINAL RAP

Speaker Branch's Gavel Descended to Mark the Dissolution of the Assembly.

TOOK PRECIPITATE ACTION

Contrary to all Precedent the House Adjourned at 5 O'Clock on the Day of Its Limitation.

The Senate, a Little More Sedate, Held Back Until the Hour of 6:30, Signing Meanwhile.

Indianapolis, March 12.—The members of the legislature were leaving here today for their homes, glad that the session is over. A few will remain until tomorrow, and then will give up the game of being statesmen.

The final adjournment of the general assembly was unprecedented in the state's legislative history. Contrary to all precedent, the house precipitately adjourned at 5:10 yesterday afternoon, and with more consideration for the proprieties, the senate ceased its deliberations at 6:30. The house in its haste ignored time-honored customs. Its close was marked by disorder and its members were struggling in dissension.

On the contrary the senate, forced to disregard the precedent of remaining in session until the hour of midnight on the closing day in order that the governor of the state might have all the time possible for the final consideration of measures still in his hands, closed its session with eulogies and with song.

The remarkable action of the house was due to the anxiety of Speaker Branch and other lieutenants of Governor Hanly lest the opponents of the executive should succeed in passing additional measures over the veto of the governor. The motion to adjourn without day was made so unexpectedly that the vote opposing the motion was clearly overwhelmed by the volume of voice in its favor. And the final rap of the speaker's gavel followed so quickly that had there been an inclination to demand a division no such effort could have been made.

The hasty adjournment was for the purpose of forestalling a movement to reconsider the vote by which the McCullough metropolitan police bill failed to pass over the governor's veto, and a companion effort to have similar action taken on the failure to pass the Farber insurance bill over the executive disapproval.

It was feared by the governor's friends that both bills would be passed if the matter were reopened, as a supreme effort had been made by the friends of both bills to have a united final struggle made to save their measures. Representative John Bowls of Marion county was armed with a motion to reconsider, but was unable to gain recognition from the speaker, and when, as the afternoon wore away the opponents of the governor became more determined, the motion to adjourn was rushed through.

The senate was proceeding along conventional lines when the rumor reached the chamber of the sudden adjournment of the house. Someone made an unofficial statement on the floor that there could be no use in the further consideration of measures requiring action by the house, that branch of the assembly having adjourned. Lieutenant Governor Miller appeared surprised and stated that the senate had received no official notice that the house had dissolved. Thereupon he appointed a committee to investigate and in lieu of a proper report from the house, to report officially to the senate the adjournment of the house. The committee found the former speaker of the house occupying a seat beside the president of the senate, and after a few seconds' consultation with him Senator Slack, as chairman of the committee, made the official report which would make regular the records of the senate.

Governor Hanly still has a large pile of bills to dispose of. The members of the senate expressed their high regard of Lieutenant Governor Miller last night at a banquet at the Claypool hotel, and gave him a beautiful diamond fraternity pin.

Postal Clerk Must Answer.

San Francisco, Cal., March 12.—Hugh M. Shaugh, a postal clerk whose run is between Los Angeles and El Paso, has been notified by Division Superintendent Stephens of the railway mail service that he would be given three days to show cause why he should not be suspended. Shaugh was an active promoter of the Brotherhood of Railway Postal Clerks, and induced many of the men of the local department to join the order. His conduct is declared by his superiors to be prejudicial to the discipline of the service.

Judge Hargis in Danger.

Lexington, Ky., March 12.—A man disguised as a woman invaded the residence of Judge James Hargis at Jackson last night and attempted to take his life. June Jett, a nephew of Hargis, saw the intruder in the kitchen and fired a number of shots at him, but he escaped uninjured.

LITTLE BABY CURED OF ECZEMA

Parents Applied to Hospitals and Doctors but Could Get No Relief—Grew Worse Under Doctor's Prescription—Friends Recommended Cuticura—Result

A SPEEDY AND PERMANENT CURE

"We express to you herewith our best thanks for the cure of our baby from eczema. The eczema appeared when the child was three months old. We applied to several doctors and hospitals, each of which gave us something different, every time, but nothing brought relief. A physician recommended a salve which we threw into the fire after two days' use as the eczema became worse so that the baby scratched his face. At last, one of our friends recommended to us Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. A few days afterwards improvement could be noted. Since then we have used nothing but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and now the baby is six months old and is quite cured. All that we used was one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes Cuticura Ointment, costing in all $1.25. Even the poorest man can pay that instead of throwing it into the doctor's lap. I myself only make twelve dollars a week as a teamster, but I recommend the Cuticura Remedies strongly to all mothers whose children suffer from such diseases. They are cheap, harmless and good. C. F. Kara and Wife, 343 East 65th Street, New York, March 30, 1906."

FOR SORE HANDS

Soak the hands on retiring in a hot, creamy lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, and in severe cases spread the Ointment on thin pieces of old linen or cotton. Wear during the night old, loose, kid gloves, with the finger ends cut off and holes cut in the palms, or a light bandage of old cotton.

I Do Not Crowd the Season

The first warm days of spring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and the people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are much more dangerous of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

STORIES OF LINCOLN.

Side Lights on the Character of the Martyr President.

"I have read several Lincoln anniversary speeches," said Mr. Charles Frederick, "and have been struck with the statement contained in some of them to the effect that Mr. Lincoln seldom got mad and that when he did get mad he did not allow himself to get very mad. If these speakers spoke from their personal experience, it is all right, but my personal experience with him one night satisfied me he could get up a terribly good sized case of mad at times.

"I was a boy at the time and was a messenger for the old American Telegraph company, which in after years was absorbed by the present Western Union Telegraph. For several days there had been a number of telegrams for the president from army officers, and among them I remember two or three from General McClellan. I don't remember now why they did not come over the military telegraph lines. Well, one night I started over to the White House with a telegram that I knew came from General McClellan. It was for the president.

"In those days there was always a guard of soldiers stationed at the two avenue gates, as also at the other gates, but messenger boys were generally well known, and they were admitted day or night without any question, at least to the front door, where another soldier guard was also stationed. There was always an officer about the door, who receipted for telegrams. This night, however, I saw Mr. Lincoln coming toward the outer gate, and I thought I would personally hand him the telegram, which I did. He smiled pleasantly enough as he opened it, but a change suddenly came over him.

"Have you the other telegrams?" he demanded of me. I replied that I had but the one, though I informed him that I knew there had been one or two others that day from General McClellan.

"That is what he says," added the president, "and what annoys me is that I have not received them."

"Then, turning to the sentry, he said: 'Send up to the door for the officer in charge and tell him that when telegrams come here addressed to me they should and must be delivered to me. Tell him also, and by this time the president was very mad, that if he sends any more of my telegrams over to Mr. Stanton's house I'll drive him away from here. Mr. Stanton has enough telegrams of his own and should not have mine.'

"Though I was but a boy," said Mr. Frederick, "I could see that Mr. Lincoln was mad all the way through and that, for the moment, at least, he was displeased with his war minister, Secretary Stanton, and that he intended exactly what he said. The president, then directing himself to me, continued: 'Boy, tell your folks that I must have my telegrams and that if these soldiers about the door interfere any more I'll drive every one of them away. I don't want them and never did want them about the place.'

Lincoln in Prophetic Mood.

"It was on the 5th day of July, 1863," General Daniel E. Sickles said recently, "that I was brought to Washington on a stretcher from the field of Gettysburg. Hearing of my arrival, President Lincoln came to my room and sat down by my bedside. He asked me about the great battle, and when I told him of the terrible slaughter the tears streamed from his eyes. I asked him if he had doubted the result. He said, 'No.' Then he continued:

"This may seem strange to you, but a few days ago, when the opposing armies were converging, I felt as never before my utter helplessness in the great crisis that was to come upon the country. I went into my own room and locked the door. Then I knelt down and prayed as I had never prayed before. I told God that he had called me to this position, that I had done all that I could do and that the result now was in his hands; that I felt my own weakness and lack of power and that I knew that if the country was to be saved it was because he so willed it. When I went down from my room, I felt that there could be no doubt of the issue. The burden seemed to have rolled off my shoulders, my intense anxiety was relieved, and in its place came a great sense of trustfulness, and that was why I did not doubt the result at Gettysburg. And, what is more, Sickles," he continued, "I believe that we may hear at any moment of a great success by Grant, who has been pegging away at Vicksburg for so many months. By tomorrow you will hear that he has won a victory as important to us in the west as Gettysburg is in the east."

"Then, turning to me, he said, 'Sickles, I am in a prophetic mood today, and I know that you will get well.' "The doctors do not give me that hope, Mr. President," I said, but he answered, cheerfully, 'I know you will get well, Sickles.'"—New York Sun.

BUSINESS COLLEGES ARE FAILURES

In small cities and towns, because:
1. There is not a sufficient population to support a GOOD school;
2. Such schools are usually conducted by persons who are NOT qualified, or who make it a practice to travel about and defraud their patrons;
3. There are few if any opportunities for their graduates to secure employment in such localities;
4. The THOROUGH business colleges are located in the larger cities and are conducted by persons who are qualified;
5. The graduates of business colleges in small cities or towns can not secure employment in large cities when thrown in competition with the THOROUGH graduates of high-class schools, as business men have no time to experiment with incompetents. Therefore, be wise. Send for the finest 68-page catalogue ever issued by a commercial school, before deciding to throw away your money for a worthless training at some cheap school.
